this book represents the first scholarly attempt to summarize and analyze how Korea's relationship with Africa has been shaped in policy and non policy aspects it shows how far it has come and where it goes the book recognizes that Korea-Africa relations though relatively new break ground by acknowledging the importance of a diligent endeavor to carry out post colonial development and have continued to grow as we find promising progress and opportunities in the mutual cooperation between the two this book is all inclusive covering Korea's academic economic diplomatic and civil engagements with Africa it investigates untold aspects of Korea-Africa relations based on an extensive literature review in depth interviews fieldwork and anecdotal evidence this text examines China's engagement with East Africa notably Rwanda Burundi Kenya Tanzania and Uganda and considers these relationships through the lens of history diplomacy education trade media cultural exchanges and infrastructure it probes the sentiments of pessimism optimism and pragmatism to explore perceptions about China in East Africa Africa-China's ancient connection to the East African coast as well as other incidents of contact in the past are analyzed from the viewpoint of the deployment of Chinese soft power capital in current times the book notably examines the significant role China is playing in the construction of new infrastructure and housing throughout East Africa and addresses China's involvement in the natural resources sector and the political debate surrounding the construction of gas and oil pipelines its investment in the tourism sector in the news media and information and communication technology sectors as well as in educational and cultural programs tropical africa was one of the last regions of the world to experience formal european colonialism a process that coincided with the advent of a range of new scientific specialties and research methods africa as a living laboratory is a far reaching study of the thorny relationship between imperialism and the role of scientific expertise environmental medical racial and anthropological in the colonization of british africa a key source for helen tilley s analysis is the african research survey a project undertaken in the 1930s to explore how modern science was being applied to african problems this project both embraced and recommended an interdisciplinary approach to research on africa that tilley argues underscored the heterogeneity of african environments and the interrelations among the problems being studied while the aim of british colonialists was unquestionably to transform and modernize africa their efforts tilley contends were often unexpectedly subverted by scientific concerns with the local and vernacular meticulously researched and gracefully argued africa as a living laboratory transforms our understanding of imperial history colonial development and the role science played in both this handbook provides an authoritative and comprehensive overview of african population dynamics variations causes and consequences demonstrating the real world applications of research in policies and programmes african demography has come of age over 50 years the discipline has grown exponentially in the number of training and research institutions specialist experts and academic output all with an aim of addressing the enormous demographic challenges faced by the continent the book draws on old and emerging analytical tools to explore the relationships between population dynamics and social economic cultural and political environments from african perspectives key topics include fertility sexual behaviours healthcare ageing mortality migration displacement the causes and consequences of demographic changes and teaching and research developments in african demography the routledge handbook of african demography will be an essential resource for students and researchers of african demography sociology development and cultural studies this book introduces readers to the rich discipline of africana studies reflecting on how it has developed over the last fifty years as an intellectual enterprise for knowledge production about africa and the african diaspora the african world has always had a wealth of indigenous knowledge systems but for the greater part of the scholarly history hegemonic western epistemologies have denied the authenticity of african indigenous ways of knowing the post colonial era has seen steady and deliberate efforts to expand the frontiers of knowledge about black people and their societies and to africanize such bodies of knowledge in all fields of human endeavor this book reflects on how the multidisciplinary discipline of africana studies has transformed and reinvented itself as it has sought to advance knowledge about the african world the contributors consider the foundations of the discipline its key theories and methods of knowledge production and how it interacts with popular culture women s studies and other area studies such as ethnic and afro latinix studies bringing together rich insights from across history religion literature art sociology and philosophy this book will be an important read for students and researchers of africa and africana studies the routledge handbook of africa asia relations is the first handbook aimed at studying the interactions between countries across africa and asia in a multi disciplinary and comprehensive way providing a balanced discussion of historical and on going processes which have both shaped and changed intercontinental relations over time contributors take a thematic approach to examine the ways in which we can conceptualise these two very different yet inextricably linked areas of the world using comparative examples throughout the chronological sections cover early colonialist contacts between africa and asia modern asia africa interactions through diplomacy political networks and societal connections africa asia contemporary relations including increasing economic security and environmental cooperation this handbook grapples with major intellectual questions defines current research and projects future agendas of investigation in the field as such it will be of great interest to students of african and asian politics as well as researchers and policymakers interested in asian and african studies poverty is south africa s greatest challenge but what is poverty how can it be measured and how can it be reduced if not eliminated in south africa human science knowledge about the cost of living grew out of colonialism industrialization apartheid and civil resistance campaigns which makes this knowledge far from neutral or apolitical south africans have used the poverty datum line pdl gini coefficients and other poverty thresholds to petition the state to chip away at the pillars of white supremacy and more recently to criticize the postapartheid government s failures to deliver on some of its promises rather than promoting one particular policy solution this book argues that poverty knowledge teaches us about the dynamics of historical change the power of racism in white settler societies and the role of grassroots protest movements in shaping state policies and scientific categories readers will gain new perspectives on today s debates about social welfare redistribution and human rights and will ultimately find reasons to rethink conventional approaches to advocacy
