this work examines the portuguese and crioulo literatures of the five african portuguese speaking countries angola cape verde guinea bissau mozambique and sao tome and principe it offers an introduction to the cultural and historical context within which literature developed in lusophone africa as well as a discussion of the prose and poetry published by the writers from these five countries since independence as such the volume is intended not only as a textbook for the student of the literatures of the five lusophone countries but also as a cultural and intellectual foundation for the specialist reader with an interest in the former portuguese colonial empire sarnau e mwando protagonizam esta estória de amor da juventude à idade madura com eles percorremos os dias os meses os anos os encontros e os desencontros a dolorosa separação o desespero o sofrimento e a alegria as lágrimas e os sorrisos

this book argues that literary production in portuguese speaking southern africa has developed distinctive aesthetic idioms that critically respond to crises of global capitalism and related failures of post colonial governance drawing from recent research at the intersection of world systems analysis and materialist theories of world literature it identifies and evaluates two generic trends in the post independence literatures of mozambique and angola from the mid 1980s to the early 1990s there is a marked tendency in mozambican literary production towards fictional representations of ghosts spectral effects and gothic narrative techniques in angola there is an analogous outburst of literary expression from the mid 1990s onwards in which writers increasingly turn towards dystopian images of apocalypse ecological crisis and the disintegration of existing modes of social reproduction away from a restricted focus on the decline of the post independence marxist leninist state the book contends that the upswing in these two genres of writing functions to critically register a world systemic horizon that both surpasses and includes locally determined national realities the patterned repetition of spectral and dystopian forms in portuguese speaking southern africa occurred at a time of heightened capitalisation in which the region was subjected to newly expropriative forms of accumulation and ecological enclosure via integration into a reconstellated world system headed by neoliberal finance capital through close readings of texts by authors such as mia couto suleiman cassamo ungulani ba ka khosa pepetela and ondjaki this book asks what factors drove literary production towards the figure of the spectre in mozambique and towards dystopia in angola what emerging energies and social contradictions found shape in these generic idioms in ways that existing vocabularies were unable to express what does the geo temporal passage from spectrality to dystopia tell us about the history of capitalist development in southern africa and about the restructuring of political economic parameters across the globe this book is the first monograph on neglected portuguese poet and painter antónio quadros 1933 1994 it analyses the question of what it means to be an author in mozambique through quadros s quirky literary works which he published under three pennames and interrogates barthes s and foucault s influential theories on authorship this book is the first work in the english language to discuss the participation of women writers in the narrative construction of mozambican nationhood over the last half century covering the rise of anti colonial nationalism in the 1950s the advent of the marxist leninist republic in the 1970s the war that followed independence in the 1980s and the transition to democracy and the neo liberal economy in the 1990s the volume focuses on four representative women writers who belong to distinct but overlapping periods and work in different genres dealing with noemia de sousa s poetry lina magaia s testimonial writings lilia momple s short fiction and paulina chiziane s novels the result is a close reading of the ways in which women have narrated and counter narrated mozambican nationhood to take account of the gendered power relations that traditionally underpin national community as imagined by men vol 1 spring 1970 include a bibliography of american doctoral dissertations on african literature compiled by nancy j schmidt
