evaluation has always played a major role in information retrieval with the early pioneers such as cyril cleverdon and gerard salton laying the foundations for most of the evaluation methodologies in use today the retrieval community has been extremely fortunate to have such a well grounded evaluation paradigm during a period when most of the human language technologies were just developing this lecture has the goal of explaining where these evaluation methodologies came from and how they have continued to adapt to the vastly changed environment in the search engine world today the lecture starts with a discussion of the early evaluation of information retrieval systems starting with the cranfield testing in the early 1960s continuing with the lancaster user study for medlars and presenting the various test collection investigations by the smart project and by groups in britain the emphasis in this chapter is on the how and the why of the various methodologies developed the second chapter covers the more recent batch evaluations examining the methodologies used in the various open evaluation campaigns such as trec ntcir emphasis on asian languages clef emphasis on european languages inex emphasis on semi structured data etc here again the focus is on the how and why and in particular on the evolving of the older evaluation methodologies to handle new information access techniques this includes how the test collection techniques were modified and how the metrics were changed to better reflect operational environments the final chapters look at evaluation issues in user studies the interactive part of information retrieval including a look at the search log studies mainly done by the commercial search engines here the goal is to show via case studies how the high level issues of experimental design affect the final evaluations table of contents introduction and early history batch evaluation since 1992 interactive evaluation conclusion assessment and evaluation are two concepts at the core of schooling which are also central to other forms of education worldwide in an international context assessment and evaluation data are increasingly widely used for accountability and quality assurance purposes at individual student institutional national and global levels this book does not attempt to include consideration of all the issues that could possibly be covered in a title that addresses assessment and evaluation in education internationally nor has it set out to cover the myriad technical issues with which assessment and evaluation are inevitably concerned rather a number of authors working within different contexts of international education whether as teachers or leaders in international schools administrators in international examination bodies or researchers in international educational research organisations have been invited to share ideas arising from their own experiences of what might be interpreted as assessment or evaluation be that assessment of student achievement evaluation of teacher effectiveness or evaluation of school quality the international dimension presents a range of challenges to those with responsibility for implementing assessment and evaluation strategies in widely diverse linguistic cultural social and personal contexts and in this book valuable contributions are shared by colleagues who are authorities in the field it is their personal views on assessment and evaluation derived from professional practice in the international sphere that have been brought together here the 13th international conference on medical image computing and computer assisted intervention miccai 2010 was held in beijing china from 20-24 september 2010. the venue was the china national convention center (CNCC) china's largest and newest conference center with excellent facilities and a prime location in the heart of the olympic green adjacent to characteristic constructions like the bird's nest national stadium and the water cube national aquatics center. miccai is the foremost international scientific event in the field of medical image computing and computer assisted interventions. the annual conference has a high scientific standard by virtue of the threshold for acceptance and accordingly miccai has built up a track record of attracting leading scientists, engineers and clinicians from a wider range of technical and biomedical disciplines. this year we received 786 submissions well in line with the previous two conferences in new york and london. three program chairs and a program committee of 31 scientists all with a recognized standing in the field of the conference were responsible for the selection of the papers. the review process was set up such that each paper was considered by the three program chairs, two program committee members and a minimum of three external reviewers. the review process was double blind so the reviewers did not know the identity of the authors of the submission. after a careful evaluation procedure in which all controversial and gray area papers were discussed individually we arrived at a total of 251 accepted papers for miccai 2010 of which 45 were selected for podium presentation and 206 for poster presentation. the acceptance percentage 32 was in keeping with that of previous miccai conferences. all 251 papers are included in the three miccai 2010 LNCS volumes.

governments and clinical providers are investing billions of dollars in health information technologies. this is being done with the expectation that hit adoption will translate into healthier patients experiencing better care at lower cost. as the first wave of adoption comes to an end stakeholders are ready to evaluate the results of their investment and make decisions about future directions. as a result structured evaluations of a project's impact are an essential element of the justification for investment in hit. this book provides an easy to read reference outlining the basic concepts, theory and methods required to perform a systematic evaluation of hit.
