in the sixteenth century italian was a literary language not accessible to the less educated among them women who would instead speak a local dialect little attention has been paid to women's linguistic education but this study shows the vital role they played in developing italian as a true mother tongue

a linguistic history of italian offers a clear and concise explanation of why modern italian grammar has become the way it is it focuses on the effects of historical changes on the modern structure of italian revealing patterns and structures which are not always apparent to those who are only familiar with modern italian although the book concentrates on the internal history of the language the emergence of italian is considered against the wider background of the history of italian dialects and other external factors such as cultural and social influences are also examined language standardization is an ongoing process based on the notions of linguistic correctness and models this manual contains thirty six chapters that deal with the theories of linguistic norms and give a comprehensive up to date description and analysis of the standardization processes in the romance languages the first section presents the essential approaches to the concept of linguistic norm ranging from antiquity to the present and includes individual chapters on the notion of linguistic norms and correctness in classical grammar and rhetoric in the prague school in the linguistic theory of eugenio coseriu in sociolinguistics as well as in pragmatics cognitive and discourse linguistics the second section focuses on the application of these notions with respect to the romance languages it examines in detail the normative grammar and the normative dictionary as the reference tools for language codification and modernization of those languages that have a long and well established written tradition i.e. romanian italian french catalan spanish and portuguese furthermore the volume offers a discussion of the key issues regarding the standardization of the minor romance languages as well as creoles this volume assembles texts dedicated to the linguistic and educational aspects of missionary and colonial enterprises taking into account all continents and with an extended diachronic perspective 15th 20th centuries strictly speaking this linguistics is contemporary to the colonial era so it is primarily the work of missionaries of catholic orders and protestant societies it can also belong to a retrospective outlook following decolonization in the first category one mostly finds transcription translation and grammatization practices typically the production of dictionaries and grammar books in the second category one finds in addition descriptions of language use of situations of diglossia and of contact between languages within this framework the volume focuses on educational and linguistic policies language teaching and learning and the didactics that were associated with them
