it's reality check time you're at least four months into your tour of parenting and the complexities of child training are starting to multiply while your baby is growing physically his mind is adapting with ever increasing awareness to new sights sounds sensations and relationships he can now interact with his material universe with greater attentiveness watch out big changes are coming to his world and yours preserving the order and structure that brought security to your baby's day peaceful sleep in your baby's nights and stability in your home is still the priority but now it must be viewed through a new developmental lens for example feeding time is more than a biological response initiated by a baby's sucking reflex for the five month old meal times become a complex and conscious interaction between him and his parents food and drink preference and need likes and dislikes must dos and won't dos teaches parents about synchronized feedings so their baby will establish cycles for wake time and nighttime giving both parent and child the rest they need

since the beginning of the twentieth century millions of anxious parents have turned to child rearing manuals for reassurance instead however they have often found yet more cause for worry in this rich social history ann hultbert analyzes one hundred years of shifting trends in advice and discovers an ongoing battle between two main approaches a child centered focus on warmly encouraging development versus a sterner parent centered emphasis on instilling discipline she examines how pediatrics psychology and neuroscience have fueled the debates but failed to offer definitive answers and she delves into the highly relevant and often turbulent personal lives of the popular advice givers from l emmett holt and arnold gesell to bruno bettelheim and benjamin spock to the prominent and ever conflicting experts of today author jeff vogel did not go into parenthood with any delusions he knew that he would love his daughter and that was terrifying what if he screwed up and he knew that life with a baby would be different that it would be filled with an endless stream of filthy diapers unexplained wailing and sleepless nights not to mention no sex the parenting books painted a picture of smart communicative babies and mindless limitless joy but he knew they were lying to him so he wrote his own book the poo bomb true tales of parental terror recounts in a no punches pulled style the first year of life of cordelia jeff's freshly hatched gooey human girl the first year of parenthood isn't about joy or fulfillment it is about menial labor wiping up human waste and marking time until the kid is old enough to run and play and thank you for its life jeff chronicles the journey through the morass of year one week by week rich with irreverent honesty and humor the poo bomb is the reality show of parenting books it reflects what most parents have sometimes guiltily felt about their not so delightful bundles of joy
