this is an abridged translation of the principal chinese textbook on civil law which was published as part of the restructuring of china's legal system following the third plenum of the chinese communist party in late 1978 because the closest thing china has to a civil code the general provisions of civil law enacted in 1986 is very incomplete this treatise is an authoritative source on the subject basic principles of civil law in china translates those portions of the chinese text that are likely to be most useful for foreigners dealing with china such as material on contracts torts joint ventures negotiable instruments and technology transfer it also contains general material on such matters as agency and partnership the general principles of juristic persons and statutes of limitations

this book adopts a principled approach to the law applied in the construction of commercial contracts this approach is presented as part of a coherent theory of the law of contract construction which makes a unique contribution to scholarship and understanding of the most important aspect of the practice of commercial lawyers the law is explained by reference to three stages in construction it distinguishes the preliminary stage in which context is established from the meaning and application stages of contract construction the approach provides insights both into the practical problems that lawyers face in particular in relation to admissibility of extrinsic evidence and the theoretical underpinnings of the subject the book also explains the relationship between intention and construction and discusses general and specific rules that determine the results of construction disputes each chapter is introduced by statements of its objectives and the book includes simple definitions of key concepts as well as summaries of the complex principles which comprise the law of construction in illustrating construction principles and their application the exposition of the law draws on the author's knowledge of Australian contract law and the influence and role of the Unidroit principles CISG and the American Restatement Second Contracts ever since the Directive on unfair terms in consumer contracts of 1993 the European project has been working intensively towards harmonization of contract law across all EU member states to date virtually none of the many problems that have arisen have been resolved the Secola annual conference convened in Prague in 2005 to consider the specific topic of unfair terms and to imagine ways in which the obstacles raised by this provocative issue might be overcome in this book which presents revised versions of the papers presented at that conference fourteen outstanding European scholars examine basic questions about the differing conceptions of contract law in the national legal systems of the member states divergent legal techniques such as interpretation of contract and divergent approaches to legal reasoning and contrasting views about the nature of the problems presented by unfair terms in contracts among the contentious matters discussed are the following the tension between party autonomy and social justice control over freedom of contract in the name of substantive fairness and efficiency interpretation of contract terms the intrusion of competition law into contract law the disputed meanings of good faith and legitimate expectations the requirement of plain intelligible language and characterization problems above all the essays ask can harmonization of european contract law be achieved and if so how the answers offered not only clarify the stage we have arrived at in this ongoing initiative but also identify the essential conflicts that must be understood if we are to secure meaningful regulation of contract terms at a transnational level for these reasons the book is enormously valuable to all parties interested in this crucial component of european integration
