the manner in which the governing law of companies is determined has attracted much attention from academics and practitioners alike ever since the european court of justice began receiving references for preliminary rulings regarding the compatibility of protective conflict of corporate law norms with the ec treaty provisions concerning freedom of establishment although recent developments have been less controversial than the ground breaking judgment in Centros they have not only consolidated the general thrust of liberalisation occasioned by the court of justice but have added new dimensions to the regulatory landscape these developments include amendments to the European constitutional order enshrined in the Lisbon Treaty European legislation on cross border mergers the proposed statute for a European private company the judgment of the court of justice in Cartesio and a Commission communication that contemplates the introduction of legislation on the governing law of companies this book examines these recent developments and appraises the current law as well as the foreseeable trajectory of the law within a theoretical setting that addresses the socio economic and legal theoretical concerns associated with choices of the governing law of companies in addition to considering the present and probable future state of EU law the book also develops new theoretical perspectives and proposes novel solutions to long standing dilemmas in particular it suggests that the use of information technology may render possible previously impossible compromises between party autonomy and the proper locus of prescriptive sovereignty this volume systematically investigates the role of argumentation in takeover bids the announcement of these financial proposals triggers an argumentative situation in which both the economic desirability and the social acceptability of the deal become argumentative issues for different classes of stakeholders shareholders employees customers etc the study focuses on the strategic maneuvers that corporate directors deploy in order to persuade their audiences while complying with precise regulatory requirements designed to allow shareholders to make reasonable decisions a conceptual reframing of takeovers as an argumentative context brings to light the different argumentative situations of friendly and hostile bids the argumentative strategies that corporate directors adopt in the two situations are identified and analyzed on the basis of a corpus of takeover documents referring to offers launched in the UK market between 2006 and 2010 the argumentative reconstruction focuses in particular on the inferential configuration of arguments which is accomplished by means of the argumentum model of topics and this kind of analysis enables capturing the inherently argumentative processes through which information becomes a relevant starting point for investment decisions
