in the promise of beauty mimi thi nguyen explores the relationship between the concept of beauty and narratives of crisis and catastrophe nguyen conceptualizes beauty which she observes we turn to in emergencies and times of destruction as a tool to identify and bridge the discrepancy between the world as it is and what it ought to be drawing widely from aesthetic and critical theories nguyen outlines how beauty or its lack points to the conditions that must exist for it to flourish she notes that an absence of beauty becomes both a political observation and a call to action to transform the conditions of the situation so as to replicate preserve or repair beauty the promise of beauty can then engender a critique of social arrangements and political structures that would set the foundations for its possibility and presence in this way nguyen highlights the role of beauty in inspiring action toward a more just world this volume examines the motives behind rejections of beauty often found within contemporary art practice where much critically acclaimed art is deliberately ugly and alienating it reflects on the nature and value of beauty asking whether beauty still has a future in art and what role it can play in our lives generally the volume discusses the possible end of art what art is and the relation between art and beauty beyond their historically western horizons to include perspectives from asia the individual chapters address a number of interrelated issues including art beauty and the sacred beauty as a source of joy and consolation beauty as a bridge between the natural and the human beauty and the human form the role of curatorial practice in defining art order and creativity and the distinction between art and craft the volume offers a valuable addition to cross cultural dialogue and in particular to the sparse literature on art and beauty in comparative context it demonstrates the relevance of the rich tradition of asian aesthetics and the vibrant practices of contemporary art in asia to western discussions about the future of art and the role of beauty bringing together authors from two intellectual traditions that have so far generally developed independently of one another critical theory and new materialism this book addresses the fundamental differences and potential connections that exist between these two schools of thought with a focus on some of the most pressing questions of contemporary philosophy and social theory in particular those concerning the status of long standing and contested separations between matter and life the biological and the symbolic passivity and agency affectivity and rationality it shows that recent developments in both traditions point to important convergences between them and thus prepare the ground for a more direct confrontation and cross fertilization the first volume to promote a dialogue between critical theory and new materialism this collection explores the implications for contemporary debates on ecology gender biopolitics post humanism economics and aesthetics as such it will appeal to philosophers social and political theorists and sociologists with interests in contemporary critical theory and materialism the volume provides a comprehensive perspective on the city of bangalore that relates to three levels of analysis that of the conceived city the perceived city and spatial practice the book also charts the styles and forms of contemporary urban democracy and the city as the site of a continuous redefinition of indian citizenship
