this book examines the failure of islamic politics in becoming a hegemonic force in indonesia and the far reaching consequences for current practices of democracy and of islam itself in contrast to the thesis of compatibility between islam and democracy following the dominant discourse of the global war on terror gwot and neoliberal democracy this study situates islamic politics in broader social settings by examining its nature and trajectories throughout indonesia s modern political history the book thus investigates how the practices of islamic politics or islamism have shaped and been transformed through political contestations and the formation of coalitions of multiple forces in constructing indonesia s socio political landscape using the concept of hegemony from poststructuralist discourse theory the analytical framework applied in this book goes beyond liberal epistemologies of islamism that prescribe the separation of religion from politics and treat islamism as an object of intervention instead the book is premised on the contention that indonesia is a political construction in which islam has become one of the major discourses that have defined and transformed indonesia s nation state throughout history in this view it is argued that the nature and dynamics of islamism are not driven primarily by different interpretations of religious doctrines cultural norms or by the imperative of institutions rather the struggles of different islamist projects in their quest for hegemony are contingent on the outcomes of socio political changes and contestations that involve multiple political forces both within and beyond the islamists in specific historical conjunctures
