in the course of every human life moments come often so quietly as to be almost unrecognized that are so subtle and unobtrusive they pass without one being fully aware of them these moments are like the gentle tones of birds singing in their sleep the faint sound of a bell ringing far away or the gentle touch of an invisible hand nevertheless all these moments perceived or unperceived are manifestations of destiny in each human life the evidence of things not seen they express the secret language of the heart and invite one to begin a journey they involve taking important steps on a life path which one senses instinctively will ultimately lead to the light of one's own higher self and into the world of spiritual reality the land where the real foundations of life purposes are to be found thus one sets out on a path that can lead to the unfolding of the unique mystery of each individual life story such is the substance of the journey described in these pages paul marshall allen paul allen was born into a quaker family on june 26 1913 in the small upstate new york village of conquest the life that followed was as varied outwardly as it was deeply committed inwardly to following a path of knowledge he was a teacher actor writer and publisher each role connecting him with the world as a rosicrucian soul for paul the most important event of destiny occurred when he encountered rudolf steiner's spiritual science through the actor michael chekhov leading paul to dedicate his life to anthroposophy as a path of inner knowledge and activity in the world in a rosicrucian soul russell pooler takes the reader on a journey through the life of a man who profoundly affected everyone he encountered during the early days of anthroposophy in north america paul delved deeply into rudolf steiner's works and became the first american born anthroposophic lecturer traveling across the continent and bringing the few far flung anthroposophic society members in north america a greater sense of unity and purpose in new york city with bernie garber he began publishing the works of rudolf steiner and with carlo pietzner compiled a christian rosenkreutz anthology paul allen eventually started his own publishing company st george book service a mail order book business in western massachusetts later destiny took paul and his wife architect joan deris allen to camphill villages in the british isles and norway where they lived as paul produced numerous plays the most significant of which were rudolf steiner's four mystery dramas throughout this life story as outer events unfold the reader is guided to a sense of the inner activities of this very rosicrucian soul and perhaps more important to glimpses of how each of us affects each other through our inner struggles and consequent actions embodied being is unique among books on manual therapy offering an infrastructure for intuition a philosophical approach to what is essentially a practical process of diagnosis and treatment with one's hands grounded in the author's decades of practice as a rolf and zen meditator the book offers a first of its kind three step method for training practitioners how to see holistically given the enormously important role perception plays in assessing clients by exposing many of the unconscious philosophical assumptions that occlude our understanding the depths of manual therapy embodied being promises to illuminate the full scope of body mind healing from the point of view of both the practitioner and the person receiving the work embodied being states the principles of intervention and shows practitioners how to use them to answer three fundamental questions common to all forms of therapy what do i do first what do i do next and when am i finished perplexed that most practitioners are unable to answer these questions and simply rely on their intuition maitland sets out to define what makes a truly life altering bodywork session drawing on his understanding of goethe merleau ponty and other great thinkers maitland proposes that the holistic approach in bodywork is capable of creating new possibilities for the future by erasing the patterns that bind us to a dysfunctional past such sessions can so profoundly reshape the body that there is no longer any room for emotional torment thus manual therapy can free bodies of physical pain releasing the innate joy within the core of all human beings ultimately giving and receiving manual therapy teaches both practitioners and clients how to move with grace open their hearts and touch the numinous concern for the world today provides the impetus to ask of ourselves a profound question how can our way of knowing the very style of our thinking which informs our research and our teaching come to express care to reveal itself to be a deed and duty of care basing this practical study on the human quality of care for the world around us nigel hoffmann takes us to a threshold beyond which lies a true science of living form care he says springs from the whole human being the thinking heart and will and is implicit in the scientific method of conscious inner participation in nature that derives from the work of the poet and scientist goethe the goethean approach a living form that unites science and art is not an alternative to contemporary science but complements it artistic practice says hoffmann is a guide across the threshold and into the sphere of the living whole but artistic sensibility can be raised to a higher possibility of itself allowing us to discover the faculties of cognitive feeling and cognitive will the author calls for a grounding in goethean science for all students as a preliminary to their specialist and professional studies he introduces us to the concept of the metamorphosis of the university from the doctoral ideal to the ideal of the whole human being and concludes with a case study of the economic sphere and capital using goethean methodology this profound book indicates a transformative path for human culture and civilization in the 21st century the book is current and interdisciplinary engaging with recent developments around this topic and including perspectives from sciences arts and humanities it will be a welcome contribution to studies of the anthropocene as well as studies of research methods and practices sam mickey university of s francisco educational institutions play an instrumental role in social and political change and are responsible for the environmental and social ethics of their institutional practices the essays in this volume critically examine scholarly research practices in the age of the anthropocene and ask what accountability educators and researchers have in righting their relationship to the environment the volume further calls attention to the geographical financial legal and political barriers that might limit scholarly dialogue by excluding researchers from participating in traditional modes of scholarly conversation as such right research is a bold invitation to the academic community to rigorous self reflection on what their research looks like how it is conducted and how it might be developed so as to increase accessibility and sustainability and decrease carbon footprint the volume follows a three part structure that bridges conceptual and practical concerns the first section challenges our assumptions about how sustainability is defined measured and practiced the second section showcases artist researchers whose work engages with the impact of humans on our environment while the third section investigates how academic spaces can model eco conscious behaviour this timely volume responds to an increased demand for environmentally sustainable research and is outstanding not only in its interdisciplinarity but its embrace of non traditional formats spanning academic articles creative acts personal reflections and dialogues right research will be a valuable resource for educators and researchers interested in developing and hybridizing their scholarly communication formats in the face of the current climate crisis the present volume is the first to address the interrelationship between goethe s scientific thought and work his ideas on art and literary oeuvre and chaos and complexity theories the eleven studies assembled in it treat one or more elements or aspects of this interrelationship ranging from basic concepts all the way to a model of an aesthetic scientific methodology in the process the authors scrutinize chaos and complexity both as motif and motor of literary texts and nature within various contexts of past and present the volume should be of interest to literary scholars scientists and philosophers of science indeed to all those who are interested in the continuities between the humanities and sciences culture and nature in this groundbreaking book nigel hoffmann shows that understanding the dynamic living qualities of nature requires artistic capacities he distinguishes four stages of scientific inquiry that correspond to the four classical elements of earth water air and fire modern analytical science with its causal thinking can be characterized as an earth mode of cognition a dynamic approach that follows transformation over time requires a sculptural sense of form and corresponds to the element of water the stages of air and fire engage yet more vital aspects of nature through musical and poetic capacities combining scholarly scientific acuity with artistic insight hoffmann first characterizes these four different ways of knowing he then applies them leading us ever more deeply into the dynamic qualities of specific plants animals and the landscape they live in in doing so he demonstrates how this four step methodology provides a comprehensive framework for the life sciences this beautifully illustrated book will appeal to all who are interested in gaining deeper insights into nature i put my hopes for the future in such practice because it plants seeds of a life attuned thinking into the world that can help us to act in more life engendering ways craig holdrege in his foreword contents art and the emergence of an authentic organic science goethe and the phenomenological method toward an authentic method in the life sciences a goethean methodology through the
