excerpt grandma had come to spend the winter and bobby and alice and pink were watching her fix up her room it was the guest room and the children had always thought it a beautiful room with its soft blue rug wicker chairs and pretty cretonne draperies but grandma had had all the furniture taken out and the rug carefully rolled up and wrapped in thick paper to keep the moths out had been carried to the attic then grandma but mother called bobby and alice and pink to come and get their wraps and go out to play a while grandma seeing them edge reluctantly toward the head of the stairs said cheerfully as she bustled about unpacking the great box that held her things never mind dears run out and play now and tonight we ll have a regular housewarming come to my 10 room at seven o clock and we will have a little party just as the clock in the hall downstairs struck the first stroke of seven alice rapped loudly on grandma s door over the past fifteen years northeast asia has witnessed growing intraregional exchanges and interactions especially in the realms of culture and economy still the region cannot escape from the burden of history this book examines the formation of historical memory in four northeast asian societies china japan south korea and taiwan and the united states focusing on the period from the beginning of the sino japanese war in 1931 until the formal conclusion of the pacific war with the san francisco peace treaty of 1951 the contributors analyse the recent efforts of korean japanese and chinese scholars to write a common history of northeast asia and question the underlying motivations for their efforts and subsequent achievements in doing so they contend that the greatest obstacle to reconciliation in northeast asia lies in the existence of divided and often conflicting historical memories the book argues that a more fruitful approach lies in understanding how historical memory has evolved in each country and been incorporated into respective master narratives through uncovering the existence of different master narratives it is hoped citizens will develop a more self critical self reflective approach to their own history and that such an introspective effort has the potential to lay the foundation for greater self and mutual understanding and eventual historical reconciliation in the region this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of asian history asian education and international relations in east asia provides a clear introduction to the key terms and frameworks in cognitive poetics and stylistics this book explores women s militant activities in insurgent wars and seeks to understand what women do in wars in international relations inter state conflict anti state armed insurgency and armed militancy are essentially seen as wars where collective violence against civilians and security forces is used to achieve political objectives extending the notion of war as politics of injury to the armed militancy in indian administered kashmir and the tamil armed insurgency in sri lanka this book explores how women participate in militant wars and how that politics not only shapes the gendered understandings of women s identities and bodies but is in turn shaped by them the case studies discussed in the book offer new comparative insight into two different and most prevalent forms of insurgent wars today religio political and ethno nationalist empirical analyses of women s roles in the sri lankan tamil militant group the ltte and the logistical ideological support women provide to militant groups active in indian administered kashmir suggest that these insurgent wars have their own gender dynamics in recruitment and operational strategies thus women and militant wars provides an excellent insight into the gender politics of these insurgencies and women s roles and experiences within them this book will be of much interest to students and scholars of critical war and security studies feminist international relations gender studies terrorism and political violence south asia studies and ir in general
