much commentary on indonesian politics since the fall of president suharto in may 1998 has suggested that indonesia's political system has remained just as exclusionary as it was prior to his fall despite the fact that it has become much more democratic and decentralised in contrast to this view we argue that indonesia's political system has become more inclusive during this time if only a little more so the fall of suharto and the subsequent process of democratisation has removed key obstacles to organisation by poor and disadvantaged groups and their ngo allies making it easier for them to engage in collective action aimed at achieving pro poor policy change
