choral repertoire is a comprehensive reference book about choral music in western culture from gregorian chant to compositions of the early twenty first century the material in the book covers general characteristics of the major historical eras biographical sketches and discussions of the complete choral output of more than 500 composers and performance annotations of more than 5

000 individual works

bh large choral texts by pat solstad in four movements i autumn ii winter iii spring and iv summer a choral worship collection for a cappella chorus with english and german text composed by henry purcell this is not a volume of the complete life and works type that would be impossible in the limited space at my disposal nevertheless it will serve both as an introduction to tchaikovsky for the general reader and also i hope as a long overdue reassessment of a composer whose compositions tend to produce a totally different though equally stereotyped reaction in the sophisticated critic on the one hand and the plain unprejudiced listener on the other it replaces edwin evans s volume the original edition of which dates from as long ago as 1906 since when substantial new russian material has become available from preface page vii
