the essential reference for human development theory updated and reconceptualized the handbook of child psychology and developmental science a four volume reference is the field defining work to which all others are compared first published in 1946 and now in its seventh edition the handbook has long been considered the definitive guide to the field of developmental science volume 2 cognitive processes describes cognitive development as a relational phenomenon that can be studied only as part of a larger whole of the person and context relational system that sustains it in this volume specific domains of cognitive development are contextualized with respect to biological processes and sociocultural contexts furthermore key themes and issues e g the importance of symbolic systems and social understanding are threaded across multiple chapters although every each chapter is focused on a different domain within cognitive development thus both within and across chapters the complexity and interconnectivity of cognitive development are well illuminated learn about the inextricable intertwining of perceptual development motor development emotional development and brain development understand the complexity of cognitive development without misleading simplification reducing cognitive development to its biological substrates or viewing it as a passive socialization process discover how each portion of the developmental process contributes to subsequent cognitive development examine the multiple processes such as categorizing reasoning thinking decision making and judgment that comprise cognition the scholarship within this volume and as well across the four volumes of this edition illustrate that developmental science is in the midst of a very exciting period there is a paradigm shift that involves increasingly greater understanding of how to describe explain and optimize the course of human life for diverse individuals living within diverse contexts this handbook is the definitive reference for educators policy makers researchers students and practitioners in human development psychology sociology anthropology and neuroscience this book uses the recent findings of cognitive and clinical psychology to draw a picture of the historical jesus the author uses recent research on conversational memory and clinical psychology in order to shine a light on the way jesus was this book argues that jesus suffered from manic depressive illness he identified with god he suffered from extreme mood changes and felt great compassion towards people all of these are mental states which may be triggered by manic depression manic depression is not a dementing illness this author is not saying that jesus suffered from a backward type of psychosis but manic depression when manifested in talented persons acts as a catalyst to trigger artistic creativity many great artists and poets have suffered from manic depression byron schumann tennyson van gogh fitzgerald and lowell to name a few it is among great poets and artists such as these that the author place the historical jesus this book therefore argues that the writers of the gospels when they record jesus as asserting his divinity were conveying an accurate picture of him his assertions of divinity were not fabrications of the early church it is reported that there are as many as 100 billion neurons that make up the human nervous system this system is incredibly complex and yet it is a fundamental part of what makes us who we are yet there is far more to human beings than biology many academic disciplines study the human condition and there are many schools of thought within that study we must also appreciate that the study of human nature did not begin in contemporary times history particularly western christian history is full of texts that offer detailed explorations of the human condition however no consensus has yet emerged consensus or not those working towards religious and spiritual formation are tasked with pursuing the transformation of their communities this book is an attempt to provide some of the background to support this ministerial work it seeks not only to offer a fuller understanding of some of the common views of human nature but also insights into how we might utilize this knowledge in our ministries ministries that strive towards the spiritual being and becoming of our world
