this book sheds light on the fact that the proclamation of an emergency can be a legitimate constitutional method to take prompt preventative measures in protecting the interests of the society in times of grave crises however the exercise of emergency powers should not undermine a nation s commitment to democratic values such as maintaining the rule of law and upholding fundamental human rights the covid 19 pandemic has posed grave threats to the lives and health of individuals however since the constitutions of south asian nations do not permit the proclamation of an emergency on health grounds executives of these nations were constrained to rely among other things on ordinary legislation to tide over the threats posed by the pandemic although these statutes entrust the executive with extensive emergency powers they do not simultaneously stipulate any safeguards subjecting the exercise of such powers to a reliable system of checks and balances accordingly this book critically examines the exercise of emergency powers in the south asian nations to tide over threats posed by the covid 19 pandemic which had a profoundly adverse impact on the human rights of individuals such exercise of powers was consistent with the general tendency demonstrated by succeeding generations of the executives in these nations to use emergency situations as the convenient means for imposing long lasting limitations on the rights of individuals consequently this book identifies the flaws deficiencies and lacunae of the legal framework in these nations which permit the executive to assume unfettered power in the exercise of emergency measures at the expense of the liberty of individuals consequently based on these findings recommendations will be put forward for initiating reforms in these nations aimed at ensuring the maintenance of a delicate balance between the necessity to respond to grave threats and to simultaneously prevent undue intrusion on the fundamental human rights of individuals
