missions states and european expansion in africa aims to explore the ways christianity and colonialism acted as hegemonic or counter hegemonic forces in the making of african societies as western interventionist forces christianity and colonialism were crucial in establishing and maintaining political cultural and economic domination indeed both elements of africa s encounter with the west played pivotal roles in shaping african societies during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries this volume uses a wide range of perspectives to address the intersection between missions evangelism and colonial expansion across africa the contributors address several issues including missionary collaboration with the colonizing effort of european powers disagreements between missionaries and colonizing agents the ways in which missionaries and colonial officials used language imagery and european epistemology to legitimize relations of inequality with africans and the ways in which both groups collaborated to transform african societies thus missions states and european expansion in africa transcends the narrow boundaries that often separate the role of these two elements of european encounter to argue that missionary endeavours and official colonial actions could all be conceptualized as hegemonic institutions in which both pursued the same civilizing mission even if they adopted different strategies in their encounter with african societies
