this book addresses both the dissemination and increased understanding of the specificity of irish literature in italy during the first half of the twentieth century this period was a crucial time of nation building for both countries antonio bibrò illustrates the various images of ireland that circulated in italy focusing on political and cultural discourses and examines the laborious formation of an irish literary canon in italy the center of this analysis relies on books and articles on irish politics culture and literature produced in italy including pamphlets anthologies literary histories and propaganda translations of texts by irish writers and archival material produced by writers publishers and cultural and political institutions bibrò argues that the construction of different and often conflicting ideas of ireland in italy as well as the wavering understanding of the distinctiveness of irish culture substantially affected the italian responses to irish writers and their presence within the italian publishing field this book contributes to the discussion on transnational aspects of canon formation reception studies and italian cultural studies this volume offers new approaches to considering italy's traumatic experiences through a wide array of media including film documentaries docufiction websites youtube videos advertisements newspapers and literature that have not yet been fully analyzed it looks at the trauma inflicted on italians not simply as national or cultural traumas but rather as the creation identification of subnational and transnational communities shaped by these trauma cases the term subnational or transnational community is used mostly in reference to human beings as they form those communities however they are also connected to a specific place namely italy in addition whereas things cannot become traumatized this book also considers living things such as the environment and the nature which may create further trauma's for people born and brought up in poland bilingually in french and polish but living for most of his professional life in england and writing in english joseph conrad was from the start as much a european writer as he was a british one and his work from his earliest fictions through heart of darkness nostromo and the secret agent to his later novels has repeatedly been the focal point of discussions about key issues of the modern age with chapters written by leading international scholars this book provides a wide ranging survey of the reception translation and publication history of conrad s works across europe covering reviews and critical discussion and with some attention to adaptations in other media these chapters situate conrad s works in their social and political context the book also includes bibliographies of key translations in each of the european countries covered and a timeline of conrad s reception throughout the continent
