this book brings together the portraits and autobiographical texts of six 17th century latin american women drawing on primary sources that include inquisition and canonization records confessional and mystic journals and legal defenses and petitions this book presents two systems of censorship and literary promotion revealing how literature can be molded to support authoritarian regimes the issue is complex in that at a descriptive level the strategies and methods new states use to control communication through the written word can be judged by how and when formal decrees were issued and how publishing media whether in the form of publishing companies or at the individual level engaged with political overseers but equally literature was a means of resistance against an authoritarian regime not only for writers but for readers as well from the point of view of historical memory and intellectual history stories of people without history and the production of their texts through the literary underground can be constructed from subsequent testimony from books sold in secret to the writings of women in jail to books that were written but never published or distributed in any way and to myriad compelling circumstances resulting from living under fascist authority a parallel study on two fascist movements provides a unique viewpoint at literary social and political levels comparative analysis of literary censorship literary reward allows an understanding of the balance between dictatorship official policy and what literary acts were deemed acceptable the regime need to control its population is revealed in the ways that a particular type of literature was encouraged in the engagement of propaganda promotion and in the setting up of institutions to gain international acceptance of the regime the work is an important contribution to the history of twentieth century authoritarianism and the development fascist ideas
