over the last two decades many changes have happened to the social welfare policies of various industrial countries citizens have seen their pensions unemployment benefits and general healthcare policies shrink as belt tightening measures are enforced but in contrast long term care has seen a general growth in public financing an expansion of beneficiaries and more generally an attempt to define larger social responsibilities and related social rights the aim of this book is to describe and interpret the changes introduced in long term care policies in western europe the volume argues that recent reforms have brought about an increasing convergence in ltc policies most of the new programs have developed a new general approach to long term care based on a better integration of social care and health care the book explores increasing public support given to family care work in the past the family would take care of the elderly or infirm and increasing growth and recognition of a extended social care market by which care has shifted from a moral obligation based on family reciprocity to a paid professional activity a new social care arrangement has therefore been developing in western countries based on a new mix of family obligations market provision and public support in order to understand such changes this analysis will take into account the social and economical impact of these reforms in the last decades historians and art historians have created an active historiographical debate about one of the most fascinating and studied iconographic themes of the middle ages the royal divine coronation indeed in the specific case of some ottonian and salian illuminations it has been proposed that their function was not only political or to legitimize power as traditionally suggested herrscherbilder but also liturgical and religious memorialbilder this has led to a complete rethinking of the meaning of this iconographic theme the divine coronation of the king would not symbolically allude to his earthly power but to the wholly devotional hope of receiving the crown of eternal life in the afterlife if this academic debate has been concentrated above all on ottonian and salian royal images this special issue of arts would like to deal with this topic by stimulating the analysis of royal divine coronation and blessing scenes in religious and liturgical context mosaics frescos or paintings placed in cathedrals or monastic churches and illuminations of liturgical texts with a wider geographical and temporal setting that is the european and mediterranean kingdoms in the period from the 12th to the 15th centuries
