if terms are associated with particular historical periods then polemic is firmly rooted within early modern print culture the apparently inevitable result of religious controversy and the rise of print media taking a broad european approach this collection brings together specialists on medieval as well as early modern culture in order to challenge stubborn assumptions that medieval culture was homogenous and characterized by consensus and that literary discourse is by nature eirenic instead the volume shows more clearly the continuities and discontinuities especially how medieval discourse on the sins of the tongue continued into early modern discussion how popular and influential medieval genres such as sermons and hagiography dealt with potentially heterodox positions and the role of literary especially fictional debate in developing modes of articulating discord as well as demonstrating polemic in action in political and ecclesiastical debate within this historical context the position of early modern debates as part of a more general culture of articulating discord becomes more clearly visible the structure of the volume moves from an internal textual focus where the nature of polemic can be debated through a middle section where these concerns are also played out in social practice to a more historical group investigating applied polemic in this way a more nuanced view is provided of the meaning role and effect of polemic both broadly across time and space and more narrowly within specific circumstances to the materials science community texture is an important property which describes the relative orientations of the various material elements which constitute the microstructure these elements are usually the crystalline grains each with a different orientation of its crystal lattice however morphological textures such as the arrangement of fibers in a composite material also have to be considered in rare cases the texture is random with all possible orientations being equally represented in the material but usually processing of the material has caused the texture to become non random with a consequent anisotropy of the material properties thus not only metallurgists and materials scientists take an interest in textures but also physicists mathematicians geologists mechanical engineers and others
