provides an interpretation of both the design and the meaning of the chicago bungalow a one and one half story single family freestanding house that successive waves of ethnic newcomers to the city have called home originally published in 1995 this book unravels the history of the temporary bungalow and shows that perhaps it was more a question of providing a new peace time product for factories than a means of providing accommodation for the homeless built in a period of housing history which remains fascinating for architects and planners and admired by some of their first occupants but berated by others those prefabs remaining today are subject to preservation orders but also perhaps offer a solution to the ongoing housing crisis in the uk the book includes chapters on the development of the prefab house in the uk comparisons with temporary housing programmes in the usa sweden and germany political and economic considerations to the uk temporary housing programme and a discussion of the design of the arcon uni seco tarran and aluminium temporary bungalows a balance of sophistication and clarity in the writing authoritative entries and strong cross referencing that links architects and structures to entries on the history and theory of the profession make this an especially useful source on a century of the world s most notable architecture the contents feature major architects firms and professional issues buildings styles and sites the architecture of cities and countries critics and historians construction materials and planning topics schools movements and stylistic and theoretical terms entries include well selected bibliographies and illustrations reference that rocks american libraries may 2005

this companion book to the bungalow includes chapters devoted to all aspects of bungalow interior design including the front door with its sense of arrival the fireplace the living room the den study or library the kitchen and dining room and bedrooms that range from nursery to sleeping porch 250 color photos construction history construction heritage recent construction historiography industrialization engineering sciences building materials building actors construction history is still a fairly new and small but quickly evolving field the current trends in construction history are well reflected in the papers of the present conference construction history has strong roots in the historiography of the 19th century and the evolution of industrialization but the focus of our research field has meanwhile shifted notably to include more recent and also more distant histories as well this is reflected in these conference proceedings where 65 out of 148 contributed papers deal with the built heritage or building actors of the 20th or 21st century the conference also mirrors the wide spectrum of documentary and analytical approaches comprised within the discipline of construction history papers dealing with the technical and functional analysis of specific buildings or building types are complemented by other studies focusing on the lives and formation of building actors from laborers to architects and engineers from economical aspects to social and political implications on legal aspects and the strong ties between the history of construction and the history of engineering sciences the conference integrates perfectly into the daily work at the institute for preservation and construction history at eth zurich its two chairs the chair for building archaeology and construction history and the chair for construction heritage and preservation endeavor to cover the entire field and to bridge the gaps between the different approaches methodologies and disciplines between various centuries as well as technologies learning together and from each other the proceedings of 8icch give a representative picture of the state of the art in the field and will serve as a reference point for future studies first published in 1986 housebuilding planning and community action was written as an examination of the conflicts and tensions resulting from private sector housing growth in central berkshire part of britain s silicon valley along the m4 motorway the book provides a detailed consideration of the various actors and their interactions and explores the fight from community groups and parish councils to halt development in opposition to the government s reluctance to discourage economic growth it focuses on four groups closely involved in the production allocation and consumption of new housing speculative housebuilders local planning authorities parish councils and community residents groups the motivations and actions of each group are examined and the tensions between them are highlighted set within the context of central government attitudes towards planning and private housebuilding housebuilding planning and community action has lasting relevance for those interested in human geography and the history of housebuilding and planning this book titled housing for all design construction and management by a k jain is a comprehensive assessment of the housing situation in india which not only traces the path taken by governments so far but also outlines a roadmap for the future the book begins with an overview of the housing scenario in india it discusses various housing programmes and draws a distinction between affordable housing and adequate housing the book also draws particular attention to housing issues of special groups such as the elderly disabled homeless migrant and transit workers students and single women there is also a discussion on the issue of social and physical infrastructure the book notes that housing units alone do not constitute housing but infrastructure plays a critical role in the occupancy of housing the question of reducing the cost of housing has been vexatious for long Jain deals with this issue in detail and suggests various low cost technologies and house building systems for making housing more affordable another issue is that of rental housing Jain suggests that giving a boost to rental housing through a slew of measures can go a long way in making housing more accessible and bring vacant housing into the market with photographs by Vertikoff this book tells the story of seventy five bungalows in five metro areas Los Angeles Seattle Minneapolis St Paul Chicago and Washington DC while giving a history of the house style and period furnishings
