burma is currently ruled by a harsh dictatorship unmoved by western activists and sanctions it is also the sight of the longest running conflict in the world drawing both on his own family's stories and his years of hands-on political experience working with the United Nations. Thant Myint-U has written an illuminating account of how Burma's rich past informs its violent present and of how the world might transform the country's future. In The River of Lost Footsteps, Thant Myint-U tells the story of modern Burma in part through a telling of his own family's history in an interwoven narrative that is by turns lyrical, dramatic, and appalling. His maternal grandfather, U Thant, rose from being the schoolmaster of a small town in the Irrawaddy delta to become the UN Secretary-General in the 1960s, and on his father's side, the author is descended from a long line of courtiers who served at Burma's court of Ava for nearly two centuries. Through their stories and others, he portrays Burma's rise and decline in the modern world from the time of Portuguese pirates and renegade Mughal princes through the decades of British colonialism, the devastation of World War II, a sixty-year civil war that continues today, military repression, and the emergence of Nobel Prize laureate Aung San Suu Kyi. The River of Lost Footsteps is a work both personal and global, a distinctive contribution that makes Burma accessible and enthralling. Thant Myint-U is the author of Where China Meets India and has written articles for the New York Times, the Washington Post, and the New Statesman.

The Hall of Lost Footsteps collects all of Sara Douglass's short fiction from the critically acclaimed Of Fingers and Foreskins to two original stories, Black Heart and The Hall of Lost Footsteps, co-written with Angela Slater. The collection features an introduction by Karen Brooks. The Hall of the Lost Footsteps is a must-read; the stories will simply knock you out. Jack Dann, at last, a collection of Sara Douglass's short fiction. The Hall of Lost Footsteps showcases the doyenne of Australian fantasy at her darkly inventive best. Juliet Marillier.

Religiously motivated violence caused by the fusion of state and religion occurred in medieval Tibet and Bhutan and later in imperial Japan, but interfaith conflict also followed colonial incursions in India, Sri Lanka, and Burma. Before that time, there was a general premodern harmony among the resident religions of the latter countries, and only in the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries did religiously motivated violence break out. While conflict caused by Hindu fundamentalists has been serious and widespread, a combination of medieval Tibetan Buddhists and modern Sri Lankan, Japanese, and Burmese Buddhists has caused the most violence among the Asian religions. However, the Chinese Taiping Christians have the world record for the number of religious killings by one single sect.
